

SVN Standards

Standards For Supervised Visitation Practice

1.0 Introduction

1.1 Supervised Visitation Network (SVN)

The purposes of the Supervised Visitation Network are as found in the SVN by-laws.

1.2 Purpose of the Standards

This document establishes minimum practice standards for professional supervised visitation and exchange services. These standards are also intended to serve as a resource to courts, educators, funding sources, and others interested in this field of practice.

1.3 Historical Development of the SVN Standards

In 1994, SVN adopted a resolution to develop a draft document of Standards and Guidelines to be reviewed and accepted by the SVN general membership. The document was intended to serve as a best practice resource for professionals operating and administering child access/supervised visitation and exchange services. The current revision, effective December 1, 2024 is based on the SVN Standards document updated and approved by the general membership in July 2006.

1.4 Philosophy of the Standards

Consistent with the mission and values of SVN, the general philosophy of the standards are:

1. Quality and flexibility of service

The standards are intended to be broad enough to be applicable to all supervised visitation providers operating and administering services and specific enough to ensure implementation of the core values of SVN.

2. Safety and well-being

The underlying premise of these standards is that the safety of all participants is a precondition of providing services. After safety, the well-being of the child is the paramount consideration at all stages and particularly in deciding the manner in which supervision is provided.

3. Evolving standards

The standards will be revised and updated periodically to reflect the evolving practice of supervised visitation services.

1.5 Applicability

The standards apply to SVN members who provide professional supervised visitation and exchange services. Membership in SVN explicitly implies agreement to follow the standards to the extent that they do not conflict with applicable law.

1.6 Adoption and Implementation

These standards were adopted by vote of the membership in November of 2024. SVN members agree to be in full compliance with the standards one year from the effective date of December 1, 2024. Additional sections of these standards are currently under review, and we anticipate further changes in the next 2 years.

We also want to acknowledge those who worked on the 2006 Standards.

2.0 Definitions

The following definitions clarify terms used in these standards:

Assessment:

is a component of the planned change effort in which the mental health practitioner collaborates with the client to obtain information that provides the foundation for developing a plan of intervention (2005, Berg-Weger, M.).

Authorized person:

is a person approved by the court, or by agreement of the parents and/or the provider, to be present during the supervised contact.

Child:

refers to a minor, between the ages of birth and majority.

Client:

is a child or parent or authorized person to whom services are rendered. See also child, custodial parent, and non-custodial parent in this list of definitions.

Community Based Supervised Visitation Services: Refers to the supervision of parent/child contact or exchanges taking place within the community at a location managed independently from the service provider. Examples may include parks, restaurants, and other public venues.

Critical incident:

is an occurrence involving a client that threatens the safety or results in the injury of a participant and/or that requires the intervention of a third party such as child protection services or the police.

Custodial parent:

is a biological or adoptive parent, guardian, or state agency or its representatives that has temporary or permanent physical custody of a child. A custodial parent may also be referred to as a "residential" parent.

Domestic Violence:

refers to any form of physical, sexual, verbal, emotional, or economic abuse inflicted on any person in a household by a family or household member.

Evaluation:

is a component of the planned change effort in which the mental health practitioner and the client assess the progress and success of the planned change effort (2005, Berg-Weger, M.).

Group supervision:

is supervision of parent/child contact in which more than one family is supervised by one or more visit supervisors. Group supervision may also be referred to as "multiple-family" supervision.

Intermittent supervision:

is parent/child contact in which a parent and child are supervised for part of the time and purposely left unattended by a visit supervisor for certain periods of time.

Neutral/neutrality:

as used in the context of supervised visitation means maintaining an unbiased, objective, and balanced environment, and when providing the service, not taking a position between the parents in providing the service. Providing service in a neutral manner is intended to ensure respect for all individuals in their capacity as parents and to protect children who are attempting to remain in contact with their parents. Being neutral does not mean providers disregard behaviors such as abuse or violence of any kind.

Noncustodial parent:

refers to a biological parent or other adult who has supervised contact with a child. A noncustodial parent may also be referred to as a "visiting" and/or a "nonresidential" parent.

One-on-one supervision:

is parent/child contact supervised by at least one visit supervisor focused on overseeing that contact.

On-site supervision:

refers to supervision of parent/child contact at a facility that is under the management of the provider.

Parent:

refers to a biological mother, father, or other adult, including an adoptive parent, guardian, or state agency or its representatives. See also sections 2.6 and 2.12 in this document.

Parent/child contact:

is interaction between a parent or other authorized person and one or more children. Contact can be face-to-face, by mail and/or e-mail, telephone, video conference, or other means of communication.

Participant:

is a client, authorized person, provider, agency staff, or other on-site person.

Partner abuse:

refers to a form of family violence involving abuse by one adult of another when both share an intimate relationship.

Provider:

is any professional person or agency, either paid or unpaid, that is experienced in and trained to deliver supervised visitation services.

Recommendation:

is the drawing of conclusions and statement of a professional opinion concerning future visitation arrangements and/or child custody determination.

Risk Assessment:

is the review and analysis of historical information and observation of behavior for the purpose of deciding whether there is a match between the probability that a client will exhibit dangerous behavior and the capacity of a provider to manage that behavior. Risk assessment as used in these standards is not a mental health assessment.

Safety:

is protection from danger or risk of physical, psychological or emotional injury.

Security:

refers to measures put in place to effect safety.

Supervised exchange:

is supervision of the transfer of a child from the custodial to the noncustodial parent at the start of the parent/child contact and back to the custodial parent at the end of the contact. The supervision is usually limited to the exchanges, with the remainder of the noncustodial parent/child contact unsupervised. Exchanges may be supervised on-or-off the site. A supervised exchange may also be referred to as "exchange monitoring," "supervised transfer," "monitored exchange," "safe exchange," and "neutral drop-off/pick-up."

Supervised visitation:

is a generic term that describes parent/child contact overseen by a third party. The primary focus is the protection and safety of the children and adult participants and providing a safe space/place and the opportunity for the parent/child relationship to grow.

Supportive supervised visitation is a term that describes parent child/contact that is overseen by third party. The primary focus of supportive visitation includes the protection and safety of the participants and includes active interventions that encourage consistent parent/child contacts that may lead to improving the parent/child relationship. Supportive supervision may also be referred to as “facilitated visitation” or “directed visitation”

Educational Supervised Visitation or Coaching Supervised Visitation are terms that describe parent/child contact that is overseen by a third party.

The focus is the protection and safety of the participants with a primary focus on interventions that provide information and support to improve a parent’s parenting skills. This level of supervision includes using an evidence informed parent education curriculum as well as skill building activities (curriculum) prior to and after the actual visit and may lead to an improved parent/child relationship. Educational Services may be court ordered or agreed to voluntarily and in writing by participants.

Therapeutic Supervision is parent/child contact overseen by a licensed (Registered, State Certified) clinical practitioner who is trained both in supervised visitation practices and clinical work with families. A master’s level clinician who is pursuing their licensure, or a master’s level clinical intern, can also provide these services if they are being directly supervised by an appropriate licensed mental health professional. The primary focus is on establishing, maintaining, improving, or healing the parent/child relationship. Interventions are trauma informed and designed to address specific clinical needs. This level of supervised visitation, Therapeutic Supervision, may be court ordered or agreed to voluntarily, and in writing, by participants.

Visit supervisor:

is any person who observes and oversees safe parent/child contact during visits and during transitions from one parent to another. A visit supervisor includes an independent contractor and any employee, trainee, intern, or volunteer of an agency provider. A visit supervisor may also be called a "child access monitor," "observer," or "visitation specialist."

3.0 Supervised Visitation Providers

3.1 Purpose

This section is intended to identify what constitutes a "provider" and to require providers to know what supervised visitation is and is not and what providers can and cannot do.

3.2 Providers

Professional supervised visitation services must be provided by a qualified independent provider, by a free-standing agency, or by a subdivision or program of a larger agency. Qualifications and training of providers are described under sections 11 and 12 of this document.

3.3 Role of the Provider

2. Providers must know and understand the scope of their services and the limitations of their role, and explain their role(s) to both clients and users of their services.

3.4 Neutrality

A provider must be neutral in providing supervised visitation service. See definition under section 2.0 of this document.

3.5 Conflict of Interest

Agency conflict of interest

- a. When supervised visitation services are provided or operated by an agency whose primary function is not supervised visitation, the agency is responsible for ensuring that staff or persons providing supervised visitation are trained and qualified according to these standards.
- b. When supervised visitation services are provided or operated by an agency whose primary function is not supervised visitation, the agency is responsible for ensuring that staff functions and roles remain clear and do not conflict with other interests when providing supervised visitation services.

Provider conflict of interest

Unless otherwise approved by the court, a provider must not be:

- a. Financially dependent on the person being supervised or any of the other clients in that family;
- b. An employee or employer of the person being supervised or any of the other clients in that family; or
- c. In an intimate relationship or have a personal relationship with the person being supervised or any of the other clients in that family.

3.6 Program Services

All providers must:

Offer only those services for which they and their staff have adequate education, training, and experience;

1. Clearly describe, in writing, the nature of the services provided and disclose to the parents and referring sources details about the program services; and
2. Seek consultation concerning service and client issues that are outside the scope of the provider's education, training, or experience.

4.0 Administrative Functions

4.1 Purpose

This section is intended to define the parameters for maintaining financial records, personnel policies, and client records.

4.2 Financial Management

A provider must maintain financial records and follow generally accepted accounting principles. Financial records must be retained for the period required by local law.

4.3 Personnel Policies

A provider with employees or volunteers must have written personnel policies and maintain personnel records.

4.4 Client Records

A provider must keep client records in accordance with section 7.0 of this document. The collection and reporting of data based on client records must not compromise client confidentiality.

4.5 Case Review

Internal case review

A provider must review the status of all open cases, both active and inactive, to monitor client compliance with the service, program preparation for court review dates, if any, and follow up on outstanding issues.

Review by the court or referring agency

Subject to each jurisdiction, providers must work with the court or referring agency to have written policies and procedures for case review to consider the status of the case, any needed changes to the court order, or whether participation in the service will continue or terminate. Resource information about how to access court services must be made available to clients.

A provider must obtain and maintain insurance coverage that is appropriate to their business operations and the nature of the work and services provided.

6.0 Evaluations & Recommendations

6.1 Purpose

This section defines the limits for providing an assessment, evaluation, and/or recommendation concerning the treatment, future visitation arrangements, and/or child custody determinations. Specifically, the section prohibits a provider from performing any mental health, custody, parenting, developmental and/or attachment assessment and evaluation that more appropriately should be provided by a licensed mental health professional. This includes drawing conclusions and/or making recommendations about future visitation arrangements or child custody determinations.

6.2 General Policy

1. A provider must not perform any mental health or other evaluations or assessments unless as specifically noted in sections 6.3 and 6.4 below.
2. Supervised visitation services must function independently from a licensed or certified mental health professional or other professional who is performing a mental health, custody, parenting, developmental and/or attachment assessment and evaluation.
3. A provider must not make recommendations or state opinions about future visitation arrangements and/or child custody determinations.
4. This policy does not prohibit a provider from providing factual information based on observations of clients which may be used by others who are conducting an evaluation and/or assessment.

6.3 Risk Assessments

A provider may review and analyze client information and behavior to determine whether services can be provided safely and/or to deny or suspend services because of potential risks of harm to a client or staff member.

6.4 Therapeutic Supervised Visitation Addition:

A qualified professional (See 2.32) who is providing therapeutic supervised visitation services may prepare a written report describing each parent's and each child's readiness and ability to participate in these services. In addition, the report can include the progress being made to the stated goals along with specific recommendations for the next phase of the therapeutic visitation process. Any such report, however, must NOT include opinions or recommendations about child custody/access outside of the therapeutic visitation process.

7.0 Records

7.5 Protection of Provider Identity

A provider must establish policies concerning confidentiality and the protection of staff and volunteers identification in the client file.

8.0 Safety & Security

8.1 Purpose

This section sets forth general safety and security requirements for providers of supervised visitation.

8.2 General Policy for Safety

1. A provider must have written policies and procedures that seek to provide safety for all participants. The central criterion of safety is that there is a match between the capacity of the provider, the service being provided, and the needs of and the risk presented by the family.
2. A provider cannot guarantee safety; adult clients remain responsible and accountable for their own actions.
3. Care should be taken by providers that their safety policies are applied with equality to participants of all racial or ethnic identities, social classes, and gender orientation.

8.3 Declining Unsafe Cases

A provider must refuse to accept any case when the safety needs and risks presented by the family are considered by the provider to have a substantial likelihood of being greater than the provider can manage.

8.4 Client Relationship

The physical safety measures described in this section are not a substitute for maintaining a relationship with each client that will help reduce potential risks of harm. This means treating each client with respect and fairness.

8.5 General Policy for Security

A provider must make reasonable efforts to ensure that security measures are provided. Providers must have written policies and procedures that include, but are not limited to:

- a. Intake and case review;

8.7 Case Screening Providers must maintain policies and procedures to screen for risk in each case. A provider's safety policies and security measures are not a substitute for screening for potential risks of harm

8.8 Staff to Client Ratio The ratio of supervisor to child must be tailored to each case. In cases requiring supervision of more than one child, a provider must consider having more than one visit supervisor present during visitation (also see section 9.4\(1\)). Visit supervisor to client ratio will depend on:

- a. Level of the supervision necessary for needed safety in each case;
- b. Number of children and/or families being supervised;
- c. Duration and location of the visit; and
- d. Expertise and experience of the supervisor.

8.9 Critical Incidents

9.2 General Policy

A provider must have clearly defined policies and procedures for parental and provider responsibilities.

9.4 Provider Responsibility

1. Children must not be left unattended with a noncustodial parent (their own or any other custodial or noncustodial parent) any time during visitation services. An exception to this rule is during intermittent supervision as defined under section 2.10.
2. Providers must have written policies and procedures for parent/child contact not covered by court order or agreement of the parents. These policies for the parent/child contact must not delegate authority entirely to one of the parents. Ultimate decision making will be left to the provider. (see sections 14.3 and 15.3)
3. Providers are responsible for the care and protection of a child during the transition of the child from one parent to another
4. Providers must consider accommodations to support parents as necessary and/or required by local, state or federal accessibility laws.

13.1 Purpose

This section sets out the general criteria for accepting or declining cases by a provider.

13.2 Accepting Referrals
